How to Store Radio Frequency Tags for use with MyChild, StaffWatch, AssetWatch and WanderWatch

Storing tags properly preserves battery life!

For maximum battery life, RF tags should be stored in individual foil pouches. Tags not kept in individual foil pouches experience RF (radio frequency) “chatter” between them that drains their batteries.

The tags are always active. To avoid the tags being heard by the system while in storage and/or auto-enrolling when you do not want them to, and to avoid the tags being subject to RF noise in the environment, the pouches should be stored in a tag storage box.
